The "Torrents and Uploads" sidebar (formerly "File Transfers") is where all your downloads and uploads take place. From here you can see all your history of downloads and uploads, choose to download or upload certain torrent files, or even delete torrents entirely, if you don't like them anymore. And theres also a "Stats" sidebar. This shows you the information that other people have collected about you, such as the average number of files you're uploading, your upload/download ratio, and your most active peers. If you want to download with uTorrent, open the BT client and load a torrent file. If its in uTorrent's format, uTorrent will load it for you. It will then ask if you want to seed or download this torrent file, and show you a progress bar while its going. Once it finishes, you can safely close uTorrent. You can also navigate to BT's web interface, bit.torrent , and initiate a download from there. You can use Ctrl + click to select multiple torrent files, or Shift + click to select individual files. BT's web interface is similar to uTorrent in that it lets you seed and download torrent files. Finally, you can use the bulk download option, accessed from the main menu under the "BT Core" tab. This will let you specify a range of torrent files and automatically download them, all at once. This can be very useful, especially for torrents with very long download times. Its also useful for torrents with large file sizes. Through this, you can move files between your computer, android, and iOS devices, as well as select which device you want your BT downloads to go to. This is really useful if you have multiple devices you can use to download from.
