Q: How to get the last line of a cell in a UITableView? How can I get the last line of a UITableViewCell? For example, if the table view has this data: line 1 line 2 line 3 line 4 I want to get the 4th cell. I have access to the cell via a dictionary and the indexPath in the cellForRowAtIndexPath method.

A: You could use an NSString method for it. The signature is - (NSString *)lastLine { NSString *line = [self.text string]; NSRange range = [line rangeOfString:@" "]; if (range.length) { return [line substringToIndex:range.location + 1]; } else { return line; } }

Note that it doesn't do any bounds checking, so be careful.

A: You can use: cell.textLabel.text.length This will get the number of characters in the textLabel.

A: You can also use: if([cell.textLabel.text isEqualToString:@""]) return @""; if ([cell.textLabel.text isEqualToString:@""] && [cell.textLabel.text length] == 0) return @""; return cell.textLabel.text; The 2nd and 3rd conditions are there to avoid
