“Slideshows”, also known as “Slide Shows”, “Slide Presentations”, “Slideshow” or “Slide Presentations”, is a category of application for Windows which displays a set of slides in an attractive way. A Slide Show application can display any type of image or graphic. However, the most common applications use PowerPoint-like slide templates, including slideshows, animation and transitions. It is not required to use a slideshow software to create a slideshow. There are also special software applications like Apple’s Keynote and Microsoft’s PowerPoint which have slide-show features. Windows has a “Slideshow” feature built in. You can create a slideshow on a folder by simply dragging and dropping pictures into the folder. You can also add your favorite music to the slideshow. Windows also allows for the creation of custom slideshow themes. "Slideshows" have become very popular. There are different types of slide shows to choose from, including slide shows for presentations, slide shows for business, slide shows for travel, and slide shows for schools. The application is easy to use.

Q: How do I retrieve a users twitter info in Android I am trying to extract the full username from my twitter app on Android to use as the users online status. I've seen tutorials that use the following:

```
Twitter twitter = new Twitter("XXXXXXXX");
twitter.showUser("username");

But I want to store the username and if possible the users profile picture too. How do I do this?

A: You need to do the followings:

1. Select a consumer key
2. Select a consumer secret
3. Get OAuth
