This skin provides you with a simple way to check whether your Rainmeter is up-to-date or not. Developer's use case: I created this skin to make sure that I am always using the most recent version of my favorite application and to provide a simple way to find available updates. Limitations: This skin has some limitations (as always): The only supported format is a.rm file. The skin also doesn't support the setting of the application name or version. Future improvements: This skin does not have any particular improvements planned, but if you have any ideas, please leave a comment. Q: How to avoid "nested iterator not allowed"?
